NAB 2012: Indiecamlaunches Global Shutter Camera

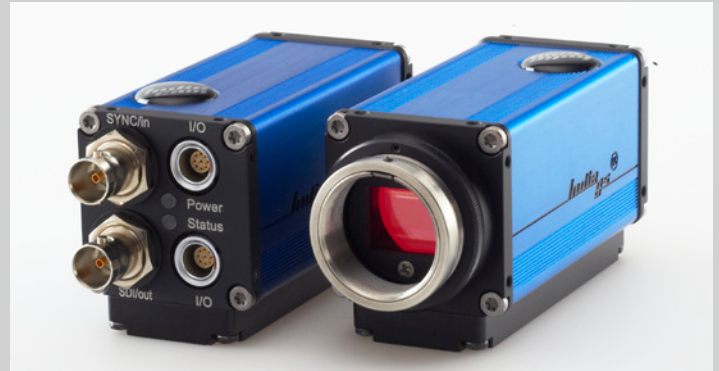

Conferences April 14 – 19, 2012 // Exhibits April 16 – 19
Las Vegas Convention Center, Las Vegas, Nevada USA

At NAB 2012, we will be launching the indieGS2K, our fabulous new 2K HDSDI camera. It is the first miniature CMOS camera with a global shutter on the market!

Four indieGS2Ks are currently being used on the set of RUSH, directed by Ron Howard and shot by DOP Anthony Dod Mantle.

Our lightweight and extremely versatile cameras have recently also been used to shoot a high proportion of Danny Boyle's latest movie TRANCE.

The indieGS2K, its related equipment and its unique 12bit RAW workflow perfectly matches the highest standards of professional production.

Its modular design, together with a selection of durable and compact accessories makes it the perfect tool for every shot that demands the highest possible image quality and a small form factor. In addition to this, the indieGS2K enables you to shoot the roughest action footage free from rolling shutter issues.

We will also be showcasing our brand new indieFocus Control, which is 100% compatible with the C-motion system.

Drop by our booths! We would be delighted to show you our exciting range of products, and discuss your camera and equipment needs in detail. You will find our team of experts at the following locations:
